CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—Charles D. Hill, chairman of the Republican national committee, before leaving for New York today after attending the session of the party's national convention in New York, declared that he was not likely to be a candidate for president in 1916.

In speaking of Colonel Roosevelt, he said: "All the information I have on the subject is to the effect that Colonel Roosevelt is not a candidate for the Republican nomination for President. He has declined to permit his name to go on the primary ballot in the only three states where it was suggested, Minnesota, Nebraska and Michigan. That indicates he is not a candidate. In the statement issued by Chairman Perkins and the Progressive national committee it was made plain that any reasonably satisfactory man would be acceptable as the Republican nominee. They insisted they meant that what they said and we will take the statement at its face value. I think we will be able to nominate a man who will be satisfactory to all elements of the party and that our candidate will be elected."

In regard to Justice Hughes, no one knows what his attitude is today toward the presidency. In discussing the subject with friends in 1912, Justice Hughes said when he went upon the supreme court, he was not a candidate and he renounced the world. I think he was in earnest when he made that statement, but whether he has since changed his mind is not known. There is no man big enough to refuse the presidency in my opinion. If he were nominated without his consent I have no idea who would be elected. I think the candidate will be born in the convention."

The Grim Reaper

ABB COSSELL.

Word has been received here from Streator, Ill., of the death of Abe Coscell, 85 years old, a former well known resident of Fayette County.

Mr. Coscell was born in Fayette county and resided in the vicinity of Connellsville up until 1885 when he left for Streator. Mr. Coscell was twice married.

His first wife was Miss Margaret Weaver, a sister of Mrs. S. D. McGraw of this city. Following their marriage, Mr. Coscell drove overland to Streator, and Mrs. Coscell, accompanied by the late Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Overholt of Westmoreland county, went to Streator by train. After their arrival Streator, Mr. and Mrs. Coscell settled on a lone prairie and Mr. Coscell by his thriftiness prospered and acquired great wealth. His first wife died nearly 20 years ago. Mr. Coscell two years later he returned to Fayette county and married Miss Mary McManus of near Normalville. With his health he returned to Streator. His second wife died some time ago. He is survived by a family of grown children and one brother Henry who is located in the west. Mr. Coscell had been ill only a short time. He was received from the family last week. No mention of his illness was made in the local papers. He is an uncle of Mrs. J. D. Perry, Mrs. James Newmyer, and Mrs. S. T. Irwin of this city. Mrs. Newmyer left this afternoon for Streator.

WILLIAM M. REID.

William M. Reid, 42 years old, a mail carrier in Pittsburgh and a former resident of Connellsville, died yesterday at his home in Pittsburgh following a brief illness of pneumonia.

The youngest child of the family died about a month ago. Mr. Reid and his wife, Mrs. Reid, formerly of Connellsville, and for a number of years the family has resided in Pittsburgh. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Reid, the latter's death having occurred nearly a year ago. In addition to his widow he is survived by the following children: Misses Gertrude and Rose Reid, John Reid and Robert Reid, five sisters, namely, Misses Christina, Margaret, Bebe and Bertha (Reid), and three brothers, Robert, Arch and Dr. Ronald Reid, all of Pittsburgh.

HELENE L. KEEFER.

THE SMARTEST KIND OF A SWEATER FOR SOUTHERN WEAR.

The beauty of this silk sweater, which comes in old rose, is the odd weave. The cuffs, button and collar are finished with white fur, and the pockets are added as an attractive touch. The sweater is made of pure silk. The sweater is made of pure silk. The sweater is made of pure silk.

MANY TEACHERS ILL

Authorities are hard put to find substitutes.

Grip and other sickness is keeping a number of Connellsville teachers out of school and the authorities have been put out to find substitutes. Mrs. Eugene Bishop was pressed into service on the South Side. Miss Dulce Krump, grade supervisor, is also teaching a room, and other substitutes are kept busy filling in at various buildings.

Miss Mary Parkhill, who was out several days with grip, returned to her duties today. Misses Ethel Supple and Emma Harper were now on the sick list. In addition to Misses Alice O'Donovan and Ella Davis.

The force of regular substitutes is strained because of measles at the home of Miss Kathleen Cagle. Room No. 4 in Greenwood was closed this afternoon for measles. Two new cases of measles were discovered, each of the victims attending school yesterday.

P. R. R. COKE SHIPMENTS.

December Shows an Increase of Half Million Tons.

News From the Home of the Coffee Bean

Mr. Frank G. Carpenter, noted correspondent, writing from Santos, Brazil, said to be the chief coffee port of the world—in an article in the Los Angeles Times of Oct. 30th, 1915, says:

"The people here believe in coffee. They talk nothing else and as they talk they drink. They drink so much of this beverage that they grow sallow, and the muscles of their faces twitch continuously. When one of them sits in a chair, resting his toes on the floor, his knees bob up and down with nervousness, and the whole system seems afflicted with St. Vitus' Dance."

Very interesting!

And what, pray, is there in coffee that makes people sallow and nervous? The drug, caffeine—about 2 1/2 grains to the average cup—a powerful irritant of the nerves and delicate tissues of the body.

Of course not everybody is affected so severely. But caffeine is a cumulative poison, and sooner or later it gets in its work with many users—slowly with some, faster with others.

Is it wise to tamper with such a menace to health? By far the better way is to leave coffee alone, and for a pleasant, delicious table beverage use

TOWN WANTS A FIRE WHISTLE

Went And Residents Ask That One be Placed on the Eagle Street Pump House; Confederate War Veteran Is Called by Death; Other New Notes.

Special to The Courier.
MOUNT PLEASANT, Jan. 22.—
Frank Vetski of Parfittown, while playing marbles on Sunday, was shot in the eye with an air rifle by some boys who were shooting at a tin can.
This is the second boy this year who has been shot in the eye with an air rifle. The Vetski boy was brought to Dr. W. A. Marsh, where the shot was pleased out of his eye.
The matter of buying a fire whistle placed on the pump house at the reservoir on Eagle street is being considered by the persons living in the West End of town and a right will be wag-ered to have a whistle put at this point in town. When the whistle that is located on the brewery blows there has to be a certain amount of wind traveling just the proper way or the local whistle is not distinct enough. The matter has been taken up by the citizens and council will be asked at an early date to place the new whistle on the pump house on Eagle street.

William Smith, who was charged with the larceny of a suit and who was held under $500 bail for the February term of court by Justice of the Peace
John Walker, went before Mr. Walker yesterday morning, and asked the matter satisfactorily to the plaintiff and the case was dismissed.

Charles Schindler, 70 years old, died at his Vine street home yesterday following a long illness. With his wife, Mrs. Schindler leaves a family of grown children. Mr. Schindler was a Civil War veteran, having fought under the flag in the Confederate army. He was Mount Pleasant's lone man that represented the gray at the battle of Gettysburg.
Funeral services will be held on Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Interment will be made in the Mount Pleasant cemetery.

The infant child of Mr. and Mrs.
James Dumlall died yesterday at the

An Old French.

It used to be proverbial that every man had it in either a foot or a physician. At forty. This means that every intelligent man must have so much about caring for his own health that by the time he is forty years of age he cannot be reckoned as a physician.

Why, then, is there so much talk by doctors about "self-medication?" A woman can recognize all ordinary aliments without calling on a doctor. If they are ailments distinctive to her sex she generally knows enough to use that greatest of all remedies for such ailments, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and likewise
she is familiar with the standard remedies for other ailments.—Adv.

OLD FOLKS NEED "CASCARETS" FOR LIVER, BOWELS

Salts, Calomel, Pills Act on Bowels Like Pepper
Acts in Nostrils.

Enjoy Life! Don't Stay Illness, Sick, Headachy and Constipated.

Get a 10-cent box now.
Most old people must give to the bowels some regular help, else they suffer from constipation. The condition is perfectly natural. It is just as natural as it is for old people to walk slowly. For ake is never so active as youth. The muscles are less elastic.
And the bowels are muscles.
So all old people need Cascarets.
One might as well refuse to aid weak eyes with glasses as to neglect this gentle aid to weak bowels. The bowels must be kept active. This is important at all ages, but never so much as at fifty.
Age is not a time for harsh physics.
Youth may occasionally whip the bowels into activity; but a high current must be used every day. What the bowels of the old need is a gentle and natural tonic. One that can be constantly used without harm. The only such tonic is Cascarets, and they only cost 10 cents per box at any drug store.
They work while you sleep.—Adv.

Parents Should Know
This Splendid Remedy

Simple Laxative Compound
Helps to Correct Constipation in Children.

With all children there are times when the bowels fail to act naturally and it becomes necessary for the parents to administer a remedy. Calu-sies and purgatives should never be used as these agents afford only temporary relief while their violent action shocks the system unduly. Mrs. Eva
P. Carr, 517 10th St., Washington, D.
C., says that her little girl, Marie, had been subject to constipation, and that she found Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin the best remedy because of its mildness, and now always keeps a bottle of it in the house.
Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a compound of simple laxative herbs, free from opiates or narcotic drugs of any kind, and is an ideal remedy for children because of its mild action and positive effect. Its use tends to strengthen the impaired bowel action and restore normal regularity.
It is important that parents should

German Bombard Dever.
BERLIN, Jan. 24.—The German army issued the following today:
"A German naval airplane during the night of January 22-23 dropped bombs on the station, barracks and

"Absent"

with "Crossing the Bar," Columbia
10-inch Double-Disc Record A1891, 75c.

If you should find yourself unusually quiet as the final notes of "Absent" die away, it will be no more than a tribute to the beauty of what we believe is unqualifiedly the most effective and artistic male quartette singing to be found in any catalog. The tone, the blending, the very breath pauses are eloquent in tenderness. The same unanimity of purpose and perfection of results is found in the singing of the Columbia Mixed Quartette in "Crossing the Bar," a companion piece to "Absent."

SLIGO.

The announcement that the Sligo iron works had been sold to Pittsburgh manufacturers who would rehabilitate the plant, enlarge it and fit it out for the manufacture of steel, and that the same would be in operation on a greater scale than ever within a few months, is highly gratifying to Connelldale people, but it did not come as a complete surprise to some of those who have held to the faith that Connelldale is still the center of the coke region and everything else which revolves around it.

Connellsville is not progressing backward. It is going in the right direction, albeit not as fast as it might. The handicap of a Democratic administration freezes ice on the enthusiasm of city expansion. The new Sligo is unquestionably a war proposition, but it will have an equal chance for prosperity when the fighting is over.

Connellsville was hard hit by the failure and suspension and the removal of some of her industries, and her reputation as the industrial and business center of things in the coke region was being somewhat impaired, but during this splendid Democratic administration some lines of business have been overdone and all business has been more or less bad.

Sligo is a good proposition, and it now has another chance to make good, and it looks as if it would do so.

COAL LAND VALUES.

The appraisal of J. V. Thompson's coal lands in Greene county was criticized in some quarters as being inflated, yet we are advised that the maximum value was less than $1,000 per acre. This seems like a big sum for Greene county coal when we think what most of it was bought for, but original selling prices do not fix real values. The Connelldale Herald says to think that another rule should be applied in determining actual coal values. It says:

"With coke selling at $5 per ton and talk of having to bank some stacks because of the inability to get sufficient to supply them, anyone can realize the value of the coal from which the coke must be made. When there is little demand for coke and it sells at a low price even temporarily, many feel blue and forget momentarily that the coal does not deteriorate while waiting, that its intrinsic value is just as great as ever."

Most folk overlook how many tons of coke an acre of coal will produce. It will yield from 8,000 to 10,000 tons per acre. At the present selling price of coke an acre of coal will bring $40,000. It cost about $12,000 to produce it. This leaves a net profit of $28,000 on each acre mined. The cost of the raw coal in the ground is the very smallest factor which enters into the cost of the coke itself. This cost when the coal has brought $1,000 per acre is only about ten cents a ton. It is less than the average royalty price now being paid for mining coal, no matter how indifferent the quality. Fifteen cents is asked and received for mining privileges at many of the smaller mines in West Virginia. This is paying for the coal at from $1,500 to $2,000 per acre.

"The available coking coal beds are circumscribed in area. Their date of exhaustion is comparatively close at hand. It can be computed within very close limits. The demand for coke is increasing every decade with enormous strides. The price must rise steadily and higher and higher. Those who sell their coal lands now will get a good price. Those who do not sell until exhaustion is close at hand will get very much better prices. These things are certain. And they are elements which may at times forget. But that does not change or affect their entire truth."

This is the other way of looking at the question. Owners of coal lands have still another view to present to the county assessor when he comes to levy taxes. But the real value of coal lands is what business men are willing to pay for them at the time valuation is made.

The Herald's interesting calculation is an interesting discovery of the possibilities of an acre of coal. It is true these possibilities are almost always unattainable, but they involve operation, and operation involves purchase, and when a man wants to purchase coal land in this section the price is not on a royalty basis. All these points, however, are interesting in the determination of coal land values.

THE COAL TRADE.

The coal output of the country is estimated by the United States Geological Survey to have increased last year but 1% over the previous year, and the previous year was not a good year.

The coal trade, however, has been up against some discouraging conditions. Its market in the early portion of the year was greatly restricted by economical railroad buying. The railroads practiced economy at the expense of the coal producer through more economical methods of firing, and the use of fuel oil throughout the Middle West and the competition of Canadian coals and the Northwest.

An increased coal business is due, but it will be marked down in the book for delivery during 1916, and nothing can prevent it but the troubles against which it now struggles, namely, security of labor and of cars. The Pittsburgh shippers are especially anxious to establish their relation with the very profitable Lake coal business in a more satisfactory method than it has enjoyed for some time.

Eastern pig iron stocks are going down. There's no embargo on them.

OUR WAR TAXES.

Some of the Democratic arguments are excellent in saving common sense, and one of these which seems to be quite popular is the claim that the European war has made the deficit in the United States Treasury.

One can understand how the European war has made large deficits in the treasuries of the belligerents owing to the enormous sums being expended by them, but this country is at peace and its government is under no extraordinary cost of maintenance. The Democrats have revived a number of War Taxes, that is taxes which were current in this country in the period of its desperate indebtedness at the close of the Civil War. They have frankly been dubbed War Taxes and the explanation has been made that they were rendered necessary by the foreign war.

But the European War has made every body prosperous in this country and the government should have shared in it, too, had its tariff policy gotten better adjusted. It is to correct its tariff mistakes that the Democratic party now blames the condition of the country upon the European War.

The Democratic party is responsible for the War Taxes. Let the responsibility remain where it belongs.

Steel is flying high just now, and the pessimists say it will hit the ground hard after the European war is over. The Democratic tariff put steel down as low as it has been in many years, and if the American people will give steel a protective tariff its manufacturers will take their chances with foreign competitors in the markets of the world.

Western Pennsylvania mine explosives are getting much too touchy. The by-product of this country were late in getting into the bonanza game last year, but they managed to manufacture over fourteen million gallons at that. When the American manufacturer puts his mind and his hand to a problem in productiveness he usually brings the answer.

Pneumonia's deadly work goes ruthlessly on.

The movement to raise a fund for the relief of the suffering Jews in Europe should receive everybody's hearty support. We helped Belgium because its people had been oppressed and impoverished in their own country. The Jews are receiving the same treatment in all the belligerent countries.

The cold wave has not reached us yet.

The Frick officials gather together to wise each other up on matters not for publication. The Gary dinners have nothing on those inaugurated by Tom Lynch.

The job of turnkey of the Greensburg Jail is not so desirable after all.

Under the Dome.

Special to The Courier.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Jan. 24.—The plan of Representative Reuben W. Wagoner to place an additional tax on beer, which will be paid by the holder of the license to sell beer in the country, in an effort to foment discord.

When the Federal Reserve Board, organized by Democratic administration on partisan lines, performed its duty of establishing Reserve banks, it located branches at Atlanta, Dallas, and Richmond, ignoring the commercial claims of New Orleans and Baltimore. In an effort to rectify the error and accommodate business, a branch bank was established at New Orleans. The interest report of the Board says that the branch bank has "already justified its establishment, having more than earned its operating expenses." Which is a partial acknowledgment that New Orleans should have been made a Reserve Bank city rather than made the site of a branch bank.

It is estimated that American consumers of sugar paid $100,000,000 extra because of the increased price of that article during 1915. This is of interest in connection with the Democratic promises of reduced cost of living.

"You can depend upon Colorado to swing into the Republican column in 1916 by a safe and comfortable majority," said a prominent western Congressman who is in close touch with the situation. "With the proper organization and a little effective work we would have elected a Republican United States Senator there in 1914. The Republicans of Colorado are now working harmoniously together, they are enthusiastic and confident of victory and that state can be depended upon to return a substantial majority for the party at the national elections next November."

"I am just back from Indiana," said Senator John W. Kern of that state, to a couple of his colleagues a few days since. "I went back to spend the holidays with the home folks. While there I talked over the preparedness program with the people there and a canvas was made of the subject in three or four towns. I found sentiment overwhelmingly against the program of the President. There is no question the middle west does not warm up much on this proposition."

The Pennsylvania State Grange has adopted resolutions condemning the changes made by the Postoffice Department in the rural service in that state. The resolutions declare that the changes have cost the farmers of the state $5,000,000 besides adding to the inconvenience of farm life. If state granges in other jurisdictions were in session, doubtless similar expressions would be heard from them. There might be an exception in the case of Texas, for Postmaster General Eason hails from that state and is said to contemplate running for the Senate.

Lunch Counters.

By GEORGE FITCH.
Author of "At Good Old Slawish."

In the United States time in very valuable, because we have only had 135 years of it, while European nations have succeeded in using up more than 1,000 years of it. In our 135 years we have had to eradicate Indians, build 200,000 miles of railroads, build 200,000 churches and 10,000 libraries, turn 20,000 square miles of forest into cornfields and potato patches and bring 10,000,000 bushels of wheat to their present state of perfection. Because he has been busy at all these tasks, the American dinner has not much time to waste on lunch. This accounts for the quick lunch counter, an invention of two minutes ago. It is a quick lunch counter is as big a time-saver as the telephone, the automobile, the motion picture and the lynching bee. With its aid, a man can lower enough food into his digestive system in two minutes to keep him going until night. It has come into a paning and breakfast nation as a long sought-for boon and only the ignorant and the indolent who sit down in a chair and nap and eat a cold dinner, leaving two-in-the-water-easy on a raft, with a draw and a stick of wheat on the side.

The lunch counter is managed by a crew of deft jugglers who can dangle sandwiches right and left and hand out a plate of pork and beans from under the deck without spilling a drop. The lunch counter is a place of great efficiency and order. It is a place where a man can get a quick lunch in two minutes. It is a place where a man can get a quick lunch in two minutes. It is a place where a man can get a quick lunch in two minutes.

Able to eat a pie in thirty seconds with the aid of a knife alone. The chef will take half an hour to prepare an order, and then get half of it wrong, but no one makes mistakes in a lunching luncheon. Time is money at noon. If not at night, and the cook who murdered 12 minutes of $10 an hour time won't last long enough in a fast kitchen to walk out by himself.

The lunch counter man makes his patron sit on high stools, so they will go away quicker and give some one else a chance. He can prepare a full meal in two minutes and three minutes later another man will be ordering from the same stool, while the waiter is hurrying the first customer out of the door. The lunch counter is a place of great efficiency and order. It is a place where a man can get a quick lunch in two minutes. It is a place where a man can get a quick lunch in two minutes. It is a place where a man can get a quick lunch in two minutes.

Abe Martin.

The hardest thing is trying to think of something to say when somebody tells you they used to know your wife. "How V. pack, distribute 'Cup Per Martin', an 'Other Useful Hints' is the title of a little book by Miss Fawn Linquist. It's sweet to be remembered, but it's often cheaper to be forgotten. "What's worse, try to read an ancient magazine in bed."

Extraordinary Sale
Special Events

The Union Supply Company's semi-annual clearance sale of shoes continues, but this week will wind up the clearance in the shoe department. During the balance of the month, however, we will continue clearance sales throughout the entire stocks of dry goods, furnishings for men, women and children; household goods of every description in the furniture, bedding, and house furnishing departments. It is an unusual opportunity; it is a very special event. Be sure you attend the sales during the next ten days.

WE CALL YOUR ATTENTION TO OUR MEAT DEPARTMENTS

During the great clearance sales throughout our stores we want you to know that the meat departments are not neglected. There are even some cut prices here, but the general stock is what we want to call your attention to particularly. They consist of the choicest cuts of fresh beef, fresh poultry, a big assortment of smoked and salt meats; a great variety of fresh pork, such as loins, shoulders, spareribs, sausages and other offals; a great assortment of smoked sausages, and other meat products; fresh eggs, butter, a big variety of cheese, pickles, preserves, apple butter, etc. It is really a pleasure to patronize a Union Supply Company meat market. The shops are attractive, the goods are high class, the prices are reasonable, courteous attention, prompt delivery. Just visit a shop and see for yourself.

The Grocer and the Home

The small grocer controls seventy per cent. of the food product trade of the country. The goods move directly over his counter to the family larder. He is a neighborhood institution. He comes in close contact with his customers at all times and intimately knows their likes and dislikes.

It would be strange if the grocery man were not quick to sense the influence of newspaper advertising. He knows customers begin calling for certain brands by name when these brands are newspaper advertised. What is more natural than that he should push these particular articles?

An Appeal To Your Finer Instincts

Nine million Jews are starving in war-ridden Europe. They are calling to their brethren in God's country—America—to feed and clothe them. We have just heard the call. We have been busy feeding the Belgians, the Poles, the Serbs, in fact we have been heeding the cry of every other nation but our own! Our suffering brethren have patiently waited their turn until now they can wait no longer. They are appealing to us as no human being has ever pleaded. Their men and boys are fighting on the side of England, France, Austria, Russia, Germany, in fact they are found in the trenches of every belligerent.

In this great and glorious country of America, Israel's sons have rightly earned the love and friendship of their Gentile neighbors, and no matter what country claims your birth, we are all Americans sworn to help and protect each other.

NEWS OF INTEREST TO THE RAILROAD MEN OF THE TOWN

Pennsylvania Inaugurates a New Safety First Precaution.

SPECIAL WARNING WHISTLES

Trains Moving Against Current of Travel Will Give a Particular Signal Pay Day on the Baltimore &
Ohio; Other Items of the Rail-

Orders have been issued by Superintendent H. T. Morrow of the Pittsburgh division of the Pennsylvania railroad, to become effective at once, that will increase the safety of the railroad employees. This order provides for "one long and one short blast of the engine whistle for trains running against the current of travel." On railroads using two or more tracks, one for east and one for westbound traffic—one of these tracks may become blocked, making it necessary to use another track. Thus, a railroader, on the eastbound track, will face west, thinking to see any train coming towards him. If they happen a westbound train may be running on that track, approaching the employees from the rear. In the future, the toots of the engine whistle as they approach curves, station platforms and other points of danger, will warn persons of their approach. The whistle will also be blown when trains are standing. The employees of the road are requested to acquaint themselves with the warning signal.

ADDITIONAL DISTRIBUTION.
The Department of Fisheries of Pennsylvania will soon make the periodical distribution of "younglings" or young fish to be planted in streams and lakes of the state. The railroads are helping out in this by sending in application blanks from various places situated in Pennsylvania.

KEEP CARS MOVING.
A plan adopted sometime ago by the Baltimore & Ohio railroad for relieving the car shortage during the depressing period did more than officials hoped for. The road began a movement of enclosing in every letter that left the office a card asking the recipient to release his cars as soon as possible, regardless of the time limit. Shippers saw the possibilities of time

PROTECTION FROM CONTAGION

Owing to its antiseptic properties, 20 Mule Team Powdered Boric cannot be too highly recommended for liberal use in the care of the person wherever and whenever exposed to any contagious disease. It may be applied as a powder or with water as a solution. "It may be used with absolute freedom and safety in all the natural cavities of the body; physicians almost always prescribe it as an eye wash, mouth wash, etc., and wherever introduced the antiseptic action is certain, but there is no danger from its use as there is with some other disinfectants, upon having the original package of 20 Mule Team Powdered Boric and then you know that you have the real article full strength. saving and in turn had thousands of cards printed which they sent to their customers. This added greatly to keeping the cars moving. Now almost every big firm, board of trade, commercial club in the country sends cards out with letters asking their customers to move the cars as quickly as possible.

GET RAISE.
Railroad policemen on the Pennsylvania railroad have received a boost in their salaries, effective January 1. Lieutenants of police on the Pennsylvania now receive $46 per month and patrolmen $33. The rule includes expenses.

HEADLIGHT FLASHES.
The Baltimore & Ohio railroad is paying the employees of the West End division today. Tomorrow and the next day will be payday for the employees of the Conneltsville division. The Western Maryland railroad will pay the employees of that road on Friday.

H. G. Irwin, extra engineer for the Baltimore & Ohio railroad of Pittsburgh was in town visiting in the railroad circles yesterday.

Cletus Channell, machinist at the Baltimore & Ohio roundhouse at Keyser, W. Va., had his foot mashed Saturday when a slide rail fell, striking him.

H. C. Humbert, a yard clerk of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad here, was visiting at the home of his father, A. K. Humbert in Confluence over Sunday.

Robert Palmer, 43 years old, a former engineer on the Cumberland division of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad died Saturday of heart failure while driving a steam roller near Brunsting area.

H. C. Snyder, a Baltimore & Ohio fireman at Rockwood spent Sunday visiting friends here and in Pittsburgh. Announcement has been made by Division Freight Agent Williams of the Western Maryland railroad at Cumberland, of the promotion of Leonard Sence of the freight agent's office to be travel freight agent with his quarters at Cumberland. The new official succeeded Mr. Patton, who recently resigned.

"Marley!" repeated Bozzam. "You ain't coming up. Timbers, duck," he directed as soon as the invitation had been extended. "Goodness, I think I'll have to be mysterious with President Hunt."

Mr. Mooson arose amid vast silence, looked at his watch and went away to keep a deferred appointment with melancholy solitude. Timbers jerked on his collar with fat speed, removed the high ball glasses into the bathroom, snatched a towel, a newspaper and a napkin from the bed, patted up the pillows, grabbed his hat and was gone.

CHAPTER VII.

Marley and Bozzam Plan to Outwit Sledge.

PRESIDENT MARLEY snatched as he met Bozzam. The two gentlemen agreed the weather was fine.

"I'm afraid you're too late, Marley," laughed Bozzam. "Our subscription list is ready to close."

"I have all the street railway stock I care for," laughed Marley in return. "Only came up to take your measure for the battle."

"It ought not to be so fierce," replied Bozzam, in the usually friendly manner of men who are about to cut each other's commercial throats. "There should be room for two good car systems in this town."

"Not on the same streets," objected Marley. "Don't you think it rather foolish to parallel our lines, Mr. Bozzam? The route, as published, looks like a snipe to me."

"I have no voice in that matter," declared Mr. Bozzam, smiling his narrow smile. "You should see our majority stockholder about that."

"See?" mused Mr. Marley. "Who is your principal stockholder?"

"I believe the gentleman's name is Sledge—Benjamin F. Sledge," Bozzam informed him, with a smile. "Perhaps you've heard of him."

"Yes, I have," admitted Marley, whose smile faded of less strained. "Friend of yours, I believe," suggested Bozzam, still smiling, and still studying Mr. Marley's countenance intently.

"Not offensively so," denied Marley. "Indeed," he continued, Bozzam, with a splendid assurance of propriety. "You know, I find it very difficult to unravel the personal, political and commercial relationships of all you fellows. Frankly, I have believed until now that you were in on the game."

"Game?" repeated Marley. "I mean that I thought you were behind the formation of this company," exclaimed Bozzam with an apparent trace of confusion.

"Benedit?" exploded Marley. "Why, it has all but broke me. Do you think it's any benefit to a man to have his only valuable holdings reduced from five to three—five?"

"By George, I'm shocked," sympathized Bozzam. "Why, I thought you and Sledge were in perfect understanding."

"I don't know where you acquired that absurd impression, but it is entirely wrong," asserted Mr. Marley, with much vehemence. "Mr. Sledge would do everything in his power to hurt me."

"And I presume that you would do him a like favor if you had the opportunity," suggested Bozzam.

"I would not say that," hastily returned Marley, feeling that he had enough trouble on his hands. "He's thinking it, though," laughed Bozzam.

"Mr. Marley flushed slightly, but kept discreetly silent."

"I thought so," Bozzam chuckled. "Mr. Marley, how much of the stock of the reorganized company do you own?"

"Two thousand six hundred and twenty-five shares."

"A little over a fourth," commented Bozzam, and drew a sheet of writing paper toward him, on which he figured for a moment. "To gain control you would need 2,370 shares additional!" he announced. "How many of the stockholders would vote with you in an emergency?"

"Not very many," confessed Marley. "Naturally a share of our trouble is blamed to me, and I am not very popular at present."

"Certainly not," agreed Bozzam. "Using with pliers isn't safe, anyhow. You'd better buy the stock."

"Buy it?" protested Marley. "Great Scott, man, what do I want with more of it?"

"Would you like to win out on this little game of Sledge's?"

"How active are you willing to be?" inquired Bozzam. "Are you willing to jump through a hoop?"

"Do anything that is lawful," replied Marley. "You first, then, will be to buy those two thousand odd shares at thirty-five. Let's see. He figured it out. They will cost you a little over $80,000."

"I haven't the money," confessed

Marley. "Sledge has cleaned me out of both cash and credit."

"Borrow it on your stock."

"I can't borrow over twenty on it. I couldn't raise enough on my total unencumbered stock."

Bozzam walked to the window and looked down into the street for some little time, during which Marley watched him.

"How active are you willing to be?" inquired Bozzam.

ad him in silent wonder, struggling against his rising hope.

"I think I can raise a loan for you at twenty," Bozzam reported as the result of his deliberation. "It's not enough I might have it arranged to buy the balance needed and vote it with you."

"But what is the plan?" demanded Marley. "I don't see what good control of a ruined company is going to do me nor why I should break myself buying worthless stock."

"Because Sledge isn't liberal enough with me," returned Bozzam. "Why, Marley, don't you see that this company of ours is a fake?"

"You don't mean it," gasped Marley. "Did Sledge have you start this company in order to break me?"

"Indeed, he has!" exclaimed Bozzam. "He did it to sell the old company out from under the new one. He's got a million dollars the public has just put up for stock in your reorganized company. Our stock isphony, strictly."

"Fifty thousand of it, we get two hundred thousand and Sledge never buys a share of it. The public is the only person who has put up any money, and we'll do it to sell our franchises and disband, with a 25 per cent dividend."

"The public gets twelve and a half thousand, we get fifty, and Sledge gets the balance of your quarter of a million."

"He planned to let all the beauty of that logical little plan sink into Mr. Marley's inner being."

"Great Scott!" murmured Mr. Marley and wiped his brow. "But how can we stop him?"

"Get control of the company. Call a special meeting. When we offer to sell you our franchises stand pat and refuse to pay more than $50,000 for the franchises. You can't defy us to build and make a fine grand stand play out of it, when you know that we won't. We'll accept fifty thousand, and then you juggle it to all Mooson and Timbers and me a hundred thousand on the side. You've saved your company a hundred thousand, we've dragged down what we ought to have for our work. Sledge gets the book, and your stock bounces up to par. Why, man, you'll not only be where you were before, but you'll clean up close to a hundred thousand profit on the stunt."

"Order some whiskey," Marley suggested to his host.

Sledge, in the luxurious little room which he occupied for an hour each day as president of the First National, gazed intently at Bozzam as he punched the button on his desk.

"Of course Marley gave notes for thirty, sixty and ninety days and four months; four payments of $1,000 each."

In answer to the bell Cashier Davis came in with the pompous of the owner of the mint, mingled with the obsequiousness of a messenger.

"Frank Marley," stammered Sledge, "has got money. Where did he get it?"

"Not here, sir," smiled Mr. Davis, rubbing his fish fat hands together.

"Find out," directed Sledge, and Davis took his stock white stockings and his white vestcoat out of the room.

"He's using cash, even in the payment of his grocery bills," supplemented Bendix. "Young Keene tells me that he saw into Marley's pocketbook, and it was stuffed with big bills, thousands and five hundred." Keene estimates that he must have had $200,000 with him."

"Why don't the stock go down?" demanded Sledge, the accusing look this time boring into Bendix.

"I pass," declared Bendix, turning both palms upward. "I've had stuff in the papers every day about the new equipment and better schedules and the general crippling of the old line, but in place of going down to two-thirds the stock's around thirty-seven now, and at that I can only find a little of it. After a hard day's work chasing it down yesterday, I picked up less than 100 shares. We started after the control too late."

"Who's buying it?"

"Cheap young brokers and has been whom we haven't kept in line. They don't say who it's for, except that it's something of a general impression, no matter what happens, the stock is bound to be worth more than thirty-five. Speculators have grabbed it, I guess."

"They'd make a noise," objected Sledge, glaring down at the corridor, which, in this room, took the place of the hand hole in the gate as a source of inspiration.

"How about Bozzam?"

"I've tried my best to trace something back to his crowd, but I can't find a connection any place."

Sledge was silent for a moment. "Bozzam's in it," he said decisively. "I don't want to think so," defended Bendix. "He seems to work clean."

"You found him," explained Sledge. "He's in it. He's a crook."

"I don't deny that, but he's too wise to start anything with you. That's what I bank on."

"He thinks I'm on the pay," judged Sledge. "He's a stranger."

Davis came in.

"He has telephoned all the banks," he reported. "One of them has made any recent loans to Mr. Marley, nor have any checks been drawn in his favor."

"Hunt!" granted Sledge. He stolidly walked out of the office, followed by Bendix, and climbed into his waiting limousine, over which the crooked policeman stood guard. "Don't buy any more stock," he directed Bendix as he drove off. "Sell it."

He strode into the office of the traction company and stopped at Hunt's desk.

"Marley drawn any money here?" he wanted to know.

"Hill knows," replied Hunt, frowning severely at the big man who stood at his side.

"Is he selling any stock?"

"Not that I know of, sir."

"Not particularly. He has been whistling."

"Making any threats?"

"Not that I heard."

"Hunt" and Sledge turned from the desk. "Anybody in with him?"

"I think I saw a stranger, sir," smirked Hunt, and Mr. Sledge, unless they have gone out the other way, the crooked policeman stood guard. "Don't buy any more stock," he directed Bendix as he drove off. "Sell it."

"Thank you," she replied. "I'm sure I can't come, however. I've never seen a real dog fight, and I don't want to see one. But I hope Bob wins."

"He'll win," declared Sledge, confidently. "I've never been licked yet."

"Everybody gets in some time, don't they?" Molly dimpled up at him.

"Up-hill!" he gruffly asserted. "Full of thought, he went over to see Bozzam, who now had an office in the newest palace of commerce."

"Ready for the meeting tomorrow?" he inquired.

"Quite," replied Bozzam, who, when with Sledge, was sparing of words. "Is the slate fixed?"

"Sure," returned Bozzam carelessly. "You served two bits before you get educated, a one year and a two stretch."

"Yes," agreed Bozzam, still carelessly.

"Well, if you try to pull anything here I'll be on."

Mr. Bozzam laid down the pencil with which he had been tapping lightly on his desk and leaned slightly forward.

"Look here, you big slop," he gently observed. "You call me a 'slop,' and you can't bluff me. When you get the goods on me is the time for you to get

A REAL FLESH BUILDER FOR THIN PEOPLE

Who Would Increase Weight.

Thin men and women who would like to increase their weight with 10 or 15 pounds of healthy "meat-ther" fat should try eating a little Sargol with their meals for a while and note results. Here is a good test worth trying. First, weigh yourself and measure your chest. Then take Sargol—one tablet with every meal—for two weeks. Then weigh and measure again. It isn't a question of how you look or feel or what your friends say and think. The scales and tape measure will tell their own story.

Many people, having followed these simple directions, report weight increases of from five to eight pounds with continued gains under further treatment.

Sargol does not (as most make fat) is to help the digestive organs turn the food into energy and store it in the body. Sargol is a natural product of the blood—prepare it in an easily assimilable form.

Gums shrinking? Danger ahead!

Go now to a mirror and examine your mouth! Do your gums look "fished out," shrunken? Do you see a jagged appearance in the gum-line?

If so, see your dentist. He will tell you that you have pyorrhea, and that to save your teeth you will have to fight this dread disease at once.

But Senecio does more. It cleanses the teeth delightfully. It gives them a whiter, more attractive appearance. It is a flavor of Senecio alone. Its flavor is entirely pleasing, and it leaves in the mouth a wonderful sense of coolness and wholesomeness.

Start the Senecio treatment before pyorrhea grips you for good. Details in folder with every tube. A two-ounce tube for 25c is sufficient for a week's daily treatment. Get Senecio of your druggist, or send 4c in stamps or coin for sample tube and folder. Address: The Senecio Remedies Company, 503 Union Central Building, Cincinnati, Ohio.

A specific for pyorrhea has been discovered recently by dental science, and is now offered for daily treatment in Senecio Tooth Paste. Senecio combats the germ of the disease. Its regular use insures your teeth against the attack or further progress of pyorrhea.

EDDIE WIMLER IS GETTING IN TRIM FOR FRIDAY BOUT

West Side Youngster Training Hard for His Battle With McGuire.

HIS WORK CUT OUT FOR HIM

Promoters of the Contest Have Other Good Bouts on the Bill and the Opening Card Promises to be as Good as Any That Has Been Seen.

Eddie Wimler is getting into fine trim for the boxing match to be held at the Slavish Hall Friday evening with Barney McGuire for his opponent. Wimler has not been boxing hard this season, and what matches he has had he was able to beat his man without previous training but now that it is before the home town fans he is to fight he means to give a real exhibition.

Wimler is classed among the best of bantamweights and has fought with the best men of his class. When in trim he only weighs 115, but he will go on at 120 and give his man six pounds on him for this bout, as McGuire could not make any less than 125. Wimler has a punch that has finished a right many times and he is not one who will stall. That is one thing that has made him popular with fight fans.

In order to get the boxing game started here Wimler will fight for a percentage of the gate receipts instead of a fixed guarantee. He will probably be on at most of the lights this season. Wimler is training with several other boxers who have appeared in the ring here, one of the fastest being Bill Carter, the local colored lad.

The other parts of the bill are also good, there being three preliminary bouts. Some heavyweights have been secured for the semi-finals who will show the fans a big slugfest match and in the preliminaries Chalky Wimler will also be a bantam, will meet a good boy. Wimler is a classy boxer and has the punch. Another bout, but one sure to arouse interest, is one between the two 12 year old youngsters from Jeannette. For anyone liking the scientific points of the game, this bout will be a revelation.

joy just hangs on every puff

How a pipe of "Tux" does bubble over with good cheer and sunny comfort! There's something about the mellow taste of "Tux" that stirs a smoker's soul. It gets into his inside works, sweetens his disposition, and gives him that perky, cheery feeling, like a high-stepper trotting down the avenue.

Tuxedo

The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

Men who never smoked a pipe before are now smoking Tuxedo, because they have found that Tuxedo is the mildest tobacco made, and that it is the one tobacco that never irritates mouth, throat or nerves.

JUDGE DANIEL C. DRURY
Supreme Bench,
San Francisco, Cal.

"I got a heap of pleasure out of Tuxedo, the sweetest, mildest and most delicious pipe tobacco I've ever smoked."

John P. Drury

You simply cannot get another tobacco made by the "Tuxedo Process"—and that's the original of all processes for removing every trace of harshness and bite from the tobacco. It has been widely imitated, but never duplicated.

Try Tuxedo for a week, and you'll get acquainted with the sweetest, mildest, mellowest smoke in the world.

"By George, I never saw anything like the effects of that new Tuxedo Tablets, for building up of weight and lost nerve force. It acted more like a miracle than a medicine."

said a well-known gentleman yesterday in speaking of the revolution that had taken place in his condition. "I began to think that there was nothing on earth that could make me a man."

Told today, vigorous, hearty eating, diet, milk, beer and almost everything else you could think of.

Any man or woman who is thin can recover normal weight by the best treatment Tuxedo Tablets. "I have been thin for years and began to think it was natural for me to be that way. Finally I read about the remarkable processes brought about by the use of Tuxedo Tablets so I decided to try myself. Well, when I took forty days and never felt stronger."

Tuxedo Tablets are a powerful inducer to nutrition. Increases cell-growth, food, increases the number of blood-corpuscles and as a necessary result builds up muscles, and solid healthy flesh, and rounds out the figure.

For women who can never appear stylish in anything they wear because of their thinness, this remarkable treatment may prove a revolution. It is a beauty maker as well as a form builder and nerve strengthener. For sale by A. A. Clarke, Connellsville, Lowe's Drug Store, Connellsville; L. M. Noren, Dunbury; A. J. Pines, Monaca; Adm.

Sheep Says East Youngstown Will Remain Quiet.

By Associated Press.

YOUNGSTOWN, C., Jan. 24.—There is no danger of a new strike of steel workers or a new outbreak of rioting at East Youngstown, according to a statement this morning by "Shaggy" J. S. Johnson, who has been watching the situation since Saturday night when the steel mill suddenly became alarmed by rumors of fresh trouble.

Forty special deputies sworn in by Mayor W. H. Cunningham at East Youngstown Saturday were still on duty today but there was no disturbance.

Frank Gordon is in the city hospital badly beaten up as the result of the efforts of Deputy John Palopetro to disperse a noisy group of agitators on a street corner. There were no other casualties.

Officials of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Company said today everything is quiet at the mills and they expect no trouble.

"The Store With the New Styles First"

Showing the First of the New Spring Fashions

THE FIRST OF THE NEW SPRING FASHIONS—always the most interesting topic of the season to well dressed women. For days past, many new treasure boxes of beautiful things for Springtime have been coming in. They're unpacked now and ready for your inspection. We keep in constant touch with New York and, through New York, with Paris. Our buyers and representatives in the East are always on the alert so that our customers may be the first to view the new things.

Measured in Yards

The new goods are the same as ever. But measured by prettiness, quality, patterns, textures and fashion, there never was a finer array. And all at such moderate prices! New showings for Spring 1916 are now ready in—

- Ribbons and Laces.
- Imported Kid Gloves.
- Embroideries and Silks.
- Ginghams and Nainsooks.
- Trimmings and Longcloths.
- Wash Goods and White Goods.
- Royal Society Package Outfits.
- New Importations of Miro Dena.

New Spring Waists

—May now be seen in a very complete assortment. A collection which you will not find equalled elsewhere for novelty, variety and values. These new models have combination high and low necks, long sleeves. Favored colors are White, Flesh, Peach, Coral, Rose and Grey.

At $2.50

Are offered charming styles in Candy Striped Tub Silks, and Voiles, trimmed with lace and embroidery.

At $3.75

Are shown pretty creations in Liberty Satin, Crepe de Chine and Combinations of Georgette Crepe and Wash Satin.

At $5 and $5.75

May be seen captivating models in Georgette Crepe and Combinations of Embroidered Georgette Crepe and Taffeta.

Spring Has Some Very Smart New Ideas for Women's Suits

THERE ARE MOST INTERESTING INNOVATIONS to be seen on many of the New Suits for Spring 1916. There are many clever novelties in collars, new lines to coats which are a little shorter and often wide and "ripply." Skirts do not flare quite so decidedly but are short and have considerable fullness. It is difficult to describe these caprices of fashion, so we invite you to inspect them in person.

At $15, $19.75, $25, $29.75, $35.00

—We are showing some very attractive new models in Poplin, Serge, Gabardine, Fancy Checks and Taffeta. Blue, Black, Tan, and "Rookie" Brown are the colors. There are also pleasing effects in Black-and-White and Brown-and-White Checks. The smartest trimmings are buttons, leather, and silk.

—Some unusually good numbers are included at $15.00.

A Few Spring Coats Have Arrived

—These first new arrivals include some very smart Corduroys in blue and rose, to sell at $12.50. Also some beautiful White Chinchillas at $10 and more. And some jaunty novelty coats we are sure will meet immediate approval.

Not All the New Hats Will Be Small

ALTHOUGH THE SMALL MODELS seem to predominate in this first new assortment of Hats ready for immediate wear.

—There are both medium and small models in All-Satin, Satin and Braid, Satin and Madeline, Braided Straw trimmed with ribbon, and All-Satin with braided straw band. Also Satin Sailors.

—Very smart, very chic, very fetching in their crisp newness and pretty shades. Just in from New York, many being faithful reproductions of popular Paris styles.
